MILLER BILL IS SIGNED BY DAVIS IS NOW A LAW

Dry Leaders Expect Appointment of Prohibition Commissioner.

Deputies Will Instruct Local Officers How to Enforce Law.

Columbus, Feb. 9.—The Miller bill providing machinery to enforce the Crable act and the state constitutional prohibition amendment now is a law. It was signed by Governor Davis shortly before noon today and filed at once with the secretary of state. It is expected that the governor will announce the appointment of a state prohibition commissioner within a few days.

The commissioner in turn will appoint 10 of the 20 inspectors and a deputy commissioner. According to dry leaders it is the plan to have the prohibition commissioner and his deputies devote most of their time for the first few months in the instruction of local authorities relative to the enforcement of the Crable act, rather than to initiate prosecutions directed against violators.

While the Miller bill prevents search and seizure of private homes without warrant, it strengthens the search and seizure clause of the Crable act in that it permits the search and seizure upon warrant of liquor unlawfully possessed or unlawfully manufactured in any place. Under the Crable act it is necessary to prove an unlawful sale before contraband liquor can be seized. Now it is said in this law about unlawful possession or unlawful manufacture.

The Miller bill also gives the governor greater power over local officials. It will enable him to remove any local enforcement officer for failure to enforce the laws and Governor Davis in a statement issued recently announced that he would insist on local enforcement officers doing their duty.

FARMERS CLEAR WAY FOR TAX LAW

Announcement Is Made That Organizations Will Join Movement to Abolish Uniform Rule in Taxation.

Columbus, Feb. 9.—Announcement made last night by representatives of the farm organizations of the state that they will join other organizations in the submission of a constitutional amendment abolishing the uniform rule in taxation in Ohio to be followed by the enactment of an income tax, was said today by taxation experts in the legislature to clear the way for a permanent solution of the taxation problem confronting the state.

The program is first to pass the temporary relief bill by Representative Taft permitting taxing districts for three years to make tax levies beyond certain limitations, subject to approval of the electors, second to pass the Griswold bill, providing for debt limitations, and then to provide for a general taxation conference which would agree upon the permanent relief measures.

The proposal for permanent relief coming from the farm organizations through L. J. Taber, master of the State Grange, O. E. Bradfute, president of the Ohio farm bureau federation, and C. A. Dyer, secretary of the Ohio home protective league is "that either the uniform rule which has been in the constitution for over 70 years be placed in the statutes so that it can be amended, or that the constitution be amended by the submission of a constitutional amendment by submitted to the electors at the next general election which shall provide sufficient revenues for the state and taxing districts; second, that the real estate shall be taxed more than an one-half percent of its true value in money, unless additional specific levies are authorized by a majority vote of all the electors voting at a general election and third, the enactment of an income tax which shall not be imposed upon real estate bearing the direct tax."

The Taft bill authorizing cities to issue deficiency bonds for 1921 operating expenses, an entirely separate proposition was to be taken up in the senate today.

NEGRO ALIVE BUT IS LEGALLY DEAD

Prisoner Whom Sheriff Forgets to Hang Eats Three Meals Daily While Lawyers Work on Tangle.

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 9.—Lonnie Eaton, the man the sheriff forgot to hang may be dead legally. Attorney General Cocco, frankly admitted today he did not know, but reports from Ouachita parish prison where Lonnie has been eating legally or illegally his regular three squares a day ever since his execution was mislaid by Sheriff Grant February 4 do not indicate that his appetite has suffered because of his possible demise.

Sheriff Grant wrote the governor yesterday that in the press of civil and criminal matters February 4, he utterly forgot the mandate to put the negro, convicted of the murder of a white man, to death on that day. The sheriff didn't know what to do about it. He had no warrant to execute his prisoner on any other day and asked for instructions.

The governor turned the matter over to Attorney General Cocco, who is raking the law books for precedent. He said the once in jeopardy principle of law might prevent any execution. In the meantime the negro is physically alive and the board of pardons still has before it an application for clemency in his case.

The attorney general issued a statement today declaring that from investigation of the Eaton case as a member of the board of pardons he believed the negro "should not be hanged." He added that had he known that the date of execution had been set he would have called Governor Parker's attention to a request for reprieve and commutation of sentence by Sheriff Grant, who had asserted that to hang Eaton would be a "travesty on justice."

"My investigation showed that the killing of the white man for which Eaton was found guilty was a 'fray' Attorney General Cocco said.

DAVIS APPOINTS CITIZENS' BOARD TO STUDY TAXES

Farmers, Business Men and Manufacturers Named Wednesday.

Will Call on Men For Immediate Action Because of Emergency.

Columbus, Feb. 9.—Voicing complete accord with the general outline of the tax reform policy as presented to the legislature last night by Representatives of farm organizations, Governor Davis today appointed a citizens committee to study the recommendations with a view to immediate preparation of a program to carry them into execution.

The personnel of the committee is: L. J. Taber, Barnsville; Master of the Ohio State Grange; O. E. Bradfute, Xenia, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; C. A. Dyer, Coalition, secretary of the Ohio Home Protective League, representing the farmers; P. H. Goff, Cleveland, president of the Cleveland Trust company; William Cooper Proctor, Cincinnati, manufacturer; William W. Knight, Toledo, manufacturer, representing the business interests; Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University; O. E. Hawk, Youngstown, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards and C. J. Neal, Cleveland, former director of finance for the city of Cleveland, representing the public.

Because of the extraordinary emergency of the tax situation, Governor Davis said he would immediately call these men together and ask them to proceed with the investigation. He announced the first meeting next Tuesday evening at Columbus.

The plan presented by the farm organizations last night contemplated a recession from the old uniform rule of taxation which has been in vogue in the state since 1839.

Commenting on the general proposition Governor Davis said it is the "most decided step forward which has been taken in many days in the line of a tax system that is adequate for the needs of the commonwealth."

The seriousness of our taxing situation has been becoming more and more pronounced and various remedies have been suggested from time to time by different elements of our population. None of these suggestions, however, have been of a nature to solve the problem with any degree of permanency, nor to meet the general approval of all elements.

"I feel that in the suggestion of the farm organizations the basis of a solution meeting the requirements of both permanency and general accord, is to be found."

The Harding state constabulary bill will be formally ready for passage in the house of representatives today by the military affairs committee which endorsed the measure last night by a vote of nine to three.

Organized labor will wage a fight against passage of the bill, which in previous legislatures. It proposes the establishment of a rural police of three troops with 60 privates each headed by a superintendent and other staff officers.

The soldiers bonus resolution, proposing the submission of a constitutional amendment which would authorize a $25,000,000 bond issue to pay each ex-serviceman and woman $10 a month for the remainder of his or her life, is expected to be adopted in the house this afternoon. It is made a special order of business for 2 o'clock.

Another bill to abolish the state emergency board and substitute instead of a state board of pardons, composed of the secretary of state, attorney general and a third member to be named by the governor and to receive a salary of $4,000 a year, was before the senate for second reading today, having been introduced yesterday by Senator Whittemore of Summit county. It is made an emergency measure.

Highway robbery accomplished by means of a revolver or other deadly weapon will be made punishable by life imprisonment only if the house concurs in the passage of the Norwood bill which passed the senate yesterday.

LEAGUE COUNCIL HAS BIG PROGRAM FOR ITS MEETING

Reduction of Armaments Among Problems to Be Disposed of.

Permanent International Court of Justice Is to Be Organized.

New York, Feb. 8.—Twelve important cogs in the machinery of the League of Nations, many of which are to be set in motion when the council of the league convenes in Geneva, Switzerland, February 21, and the problems which await their action, are defined in a forecast of the work of the league which has just been received here.

Arthur Sweetser, an officer of the American commission to the peace conference at Versailles, is now attached to the League of Nations' secretariat staff, is the author of the forecast. He says the 12 cogs are really special commissions, the personnel of which will in some cases be designated by the council, at its forthcoming meeting.

The subjects that will be handled by the commissions are enumerated by Mr. Sweetser as follows:

Reduction of Armaments—Technical examination into the present condition of world armaments, now under way by the permanent military, naval and air commission of the League will be completed. In addition, a temporary commission of experts in the political, social and economic work will be asked to submit plans for a reduction of armaments. The aim of this commission will be to get members of the league to agree not to exceed their present scale of armaments, to agree to a proportionate and simultaneous reduction in military budgets and to accept the principle of scientific and comprehensive reduction of armaments to the least figure compatible with national security. Investigation of the private manufacture of munitions and war material, denounced as "a source of danger to the world through an extended sale throughout the less civilized areas in Asia and Africa" will be undertaken. A permanent court of international justice—Nominations of 11 judges, chosen for a period of nine years, are to be made next summer and the selections announced at the second assembly to be held in September next. The list of candidates will be prepared mainly by the Hague court of arbitral justice and all nominees will be voted upon separately by the assembly and the council. So far 22 nations, including Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, have signed the protocol providing for the court whose adoption by a unanimous vote of the assembly is held to be the greatest single advance the League of Nations has yet registered in international relations.

Two important problems which had to be decided before the court begins to convene were, first, should the court

REDS' THREAT TO POLAND

Numbered arrows indicate main points in Red-Poland situation.

1—Two hundred thousand Red troops are reported to be massing opposite Galicia for a drive into Poland. This number includes eight Bolshevik divisions, with supplies of munitions of war. They are not include General Budenny's famous cavalry, or numerous Roumanian prisoners or deserters. Poland and Roumania have concluded a military alliance.

2—Many Red troops have been reported in the Minsk area.

3—Poland expects to employ the south Russian troops in Galicia and prisoners at Brest-Litovsk to aid in beating the Red attack.

4—Roumania says it expects no war, and that the Reds are disposed to be reasonable toward it.

have the power of compulsory adjudication? And, second, should it be organized by resolution of the assembly or submitted to ratification by individual nations? These questions were decided by the assembly providing that those nations so desiring may accept the principle of compulsory adjudication and that the organization of the court should be subject to ratification of individual nations. Action for or against the court will be taken in a number of parliaments which meet this year.

Mandates—An international commission of nine members from non-mandatory powers, is to be appointed by the council in accordance with an agreement reached on November 29. The question of mandates for the 13,000,000 or more people of the Pacific Islands, South Africa, Turkey and China, freed from Germany and Turkey during the war, opens one of the least advanced of all the League's problems. Tentative drafts have been proposed by the allied powers so that the League should be in possession of the terms of all prospective mandates. These will be analyzed and, where necessary, possible changes recommended.

International Economics and Finance. A permanent, centralizing, economic and financial organization is to be formed within the League by the appointment of an advisory, economic and financial committee, the membership of which will be composed of leading world financiers and economists. This committee in a sense will be the successor of the supreme economic council. It grew out of the Brussels' international conference and will be charged with the duty of considering the immediate application of that body's recommendations.

Other subjects to be dealt with by commissions are proposed amendments to the covenant of the League, registration and publication of treaties between member nations, methods of applying the international economic blockade and means of providing funds for the secretariat and auditing its accounts.

Other commissions or organizations will take up methods of improving means of communication and transportation in Europe and co-ordination of international health organizations in combating epidemics.

Under the head of humanitarian work come such subjects as the Armenian massacres and the white slave and opium traffics which are to be handled by the co-operation of several or all governments in the League. The United States, Spain and Brazil, at the council's instigation, have agreed to use their influence to end the Armenian horrors and the allied powers, through their representatives at Constantinople, are now ascertaining the best methods of approach.

Fifteen nations, including Canada, Persia, Siam, Austria, Bulgaria and Germany, are giving financial aid to combat typhus which has been raging in eastern Europe more than a year. An international conference on the white slave traffic is to be held this summer. A commission of three qualified residents of Armenia and Asia Minor, one of them a woman, is to be appointed by the council to report on the traffic in women and children in that part of the world.

Suppression of the trade in opium and other narcotic drugs, especially in China, is to be undertaken by an advisory committee aided by experts from all the countries involved. The Netherlands government which, heretofore has taken the lead in the suppression of the opium trade by co-operative action, has turned the whole problem over to the League.

In conclusion, Mr. Sweetser declared that the months between now and September are going to be full of very careful and detailed study of every phase of League interest. The League, he asserts, "instead of slowing up, is going ahead with greater intensity than ever."

SOUTHERN FARMERS HIT BY LOW PRICES

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 8.—On account of the low prices that have been paid for tobacco and cotton this season, many southern farmers have experienced great difficulty in meeting their obligations.

As reflecting the plight of one planter, former Governor Richard B. Manning, of South Carolina, at a meeting of tobacco and cotton growers here recently, read the following letter which, he said, was sent to a South Carolina fertilizer company:

"I received your letter about what I owe you. Now be patient. I ain't forgot you, and soon as folks pay me I'll pay you, but if this was judgement day and you no more prepared to meet your God than I am to meet your account, then you sho' going to hell."

ROTES URGED TO AID SCOUTING

Speakers at Tuesday Dinner Make Appeal For Club Members to Give More of Time Than Money to Movement.

Franklin, scout commissioner, delivered an inspiring address on Scouting and its application to the lives of men. Rev. Mr. Franklin urged the men to give of their time more than of their money in furthering the scout program.

Following the luncheon several songs were enjoyed and then Scout Executive K. L. Brown introduced each boy, giving his name and the list of merit badges he had earned. Following the introduction of the boys C. Harrington Davis, who had charge of the program for the boys, gave a short talk on the relation of Scouting to Rotary. Throughout the meal the Boy Scout orchestra under the leadership of Rotarian Charlie Pfeiffer rendered a program of music which was excellent and thoroughly enjoyed. The orchestra and the leader are to be congratulated on the progress made since the formation of the orchestra four weeks ago.

In the regular business which preceded the scout program President Beggs announced that a delegation from Mt. Vernon would be here to visit the Rotary club February 22 and that dinner would be held at 5:30 that evening.

Clay Van Voorhis and J. S. Herzog were appointed as the Rotary committee on the protective committee being organized by the Chamber of Commerce.

SAYS PRODIGAL SON WAS DOUBTLESS INSANE

"The Insanity of Sin" or "Was the Prodigal Son Insane," was the subject of the sermon preached by E. W. Thornton at the West Newark revival meetings last night. "The scripture says 'He came to himself,' said Mr. Thornton. 'Keep in mind, then these things: First, He was not at himself. Second, he came to himself. Third, when he came to himself he went to His Father.'"

The young man now being at himself gives evidence of insanity as recognized by the scientist. The scientist recognizes four elements in insane people. First, perceptual, second, intellectual insanity, third, volitional insanity, fourth, emotional insanity. The prodigal son had everyone of these elements.

The development of this idea and the illustrations all original or in the personal knowledge of the speaker were intended to show that to sin is insane and that the prodigal son was insane when he became an outcast in a foreign land.

The views of the Campo Santo at Genoa, Italy and the first views of Egypt at Alexandria and Cairo were displayed last night by Mr. Kendall and the illustrated song "Where is my Wonderful Boy Tonight," were interesting views of Egypt will be continued. Another illustrated song will be sung by Mr. Kendall tonight. The church was filled last night.

ABOUT CHURCH MUSIC.

Editor of the Advocate.—When a farmer comes to town to attend Divine services it doesn't advance him spiritually to hear singing with a tremulous effect or a "quiver quaver," because it is unnatural, "put on" and savors of affectation. Besides, there being as much or more to the sentiment of the song as the music and as we fall to hear or understand the words, we loose much.—Respectfully submitted, F. M. Richmond, 62 South Second street.

BOAST NOT THYSELF of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.—Proverbs 27:1.

TO CURB GRAIN GAMBLING.

The reputation of "Herb" Hoover as a "practical man" is in danger of becoming impaired if he insists on the adoption of his suggestion for curbing the evils of speculation in grain and other food products on the curb markets and exchanges. Mr. Hoover, appearing before the house agricultural committee, expressed the opinion that the bad effects of speculating in grain futures would be largely overcome, if not eliminated, by "limiting the quantity of the commodity which could be used in speculative trades."

As the man on the outside might interpret his plan, give the grain gamblers enough of the commodity to keep them interested in the game, but not enough to work any injury to the producers of the consumers—just like limiting the allotment of candy for the small son of the family so his digestion will not be impaired.

The country got along very well during the war without the exchanges whose principal business is gambling in grain futures—running the price of wheat and other grains up and down, just like a small boy playing with a monkey on a stick—the public playing the part of the monkey. It is reasonable to suppose that speculation in grain is necessary?

IGNORING THE PUBLIC.

While representatives of organized labor and organizations of manufacturers in the United States show a reluctance to take the aggressive in the contest over the "open shop" and the "closed shop," indications are that the test between these two policies is about to be made. The United States Chamber of Commerce took occasion recently to declare its hostility to the "closed shop" plan of organized labor. The National Association of Manufacturers has followed with a declaration for the "open shop."

Representatives of organized labor have called a meeting in Washington for February 23, and labor leaders unequivocally state that the principal purpose of this conference is to make plans to oppose any intention upon the part of manufacturers to bring about the rule of the "open shop" in industry. Labor leaders assert that industrial plants have been closed down for the purpose of bringing about a reduction in wages, with the ultimate purpose of crushing labor organizations. Manufacturers take the position that the "open shop"—freedom to work whether or not a member of a labor organization—is the only American way.

The general public can hardly have any prejudice in the contest, for its interests depend on the smooth operation of the relations between capital and labor. It does desire, however, the fullest possible justice be done to all interests involved in industry, and as the "third party" in labor and other disputes affecting industry it has rights that should have consideration.

COURTS AND "CRIMINALS."

It is a curious extension of the crime wave which caused the authorities of Winchester, Ky., to accuse, indict and bring to trial Old King, a blooded foxhound, on the charge of the murder of sheep last week. The local magistrate has taken the case under advisement. But although this is probably the first instance in American jurisprudence of an animal being brought before the bar of justice, it has its precedents aplenty in continental Europe.

A case almost parallel occurred in Lavagny, France, in 1457 when a sow and her six pigs were solemnly tried for the killing of a child. The sow was found guilty and executed, but the dear little piggies, on account of their youth and innocence, were acquitted. Some fleas tried in the same court at another town in France fared better. Their counsel established that they had a right to existence, and a plot of ground was set off for their use. The Goats were bidden not to leave

These old absurdities of the law seem only quaint to us. Wonder what folks 600 years from now will think of some of the transactions in our twentieth century courts.

ON THE WRONG TRACK.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
 If the demand of forty-nine members of the Democratic national committee for an early meeting of the committee for reorganization is, as alleged, intended to be in furtherance of an effort to elect William C. McAdoo, president in 1924 it is an ill consideration likely to defeat its own purpose. It is not good tactics in politics of war to split one's force in the face of the enemy.

Chairman White had already indicated an intention of retiring as head of the committee. No hostilities were necessary to get him out. It is likely to be found, however, that White belongs to that school of fighting men in politics who rather than be ousted and who, if his retirement be urged too strongly by his enemies, will stay to fight it out.

Nothing in Chairman White's conduct of the recent campaign calls for his resignation now. The startling defeat of Gov. Cox was due to causes wholly apart from the conduct of the national committee of the efficiency of its head. There is no reason to assume that even Mr. McAdoo would have made any better run against Senator Harding. Nor is there any occasion this early to demand a reorganization of the committee of the efficiency of its head.

The decision of the next presidential election rests on developments yet to come—the record of two congresses, the failures or achievement of the next president, campaign trends, the quick by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

If you do not practice thrift, do not allow yourself to be fooled by the belief that when you become more prosperous you will then begin to save money.

Those who practice thrift do so regardless of all other circumstances. Their incomes may be modest and their savings be correspondingly small, but in some way they manage to save a little out of their earnings.

Experience has shown that as men advance in their earning capacity they made a corresponding advancement in their standards of living and their personal requirements. As a matter of fact there are many men in our large cities today earning big salaries who are not saving as much money as they did when they were struggling at the bottom of the ladder.

One of the great values of thrift is the power it gives to the will. The harder it is for one to save the greater is the mental and moral values resulting from these habits.

It always must be borne in mind that, while saving money does not constitute the sum total of thrift, it is a necessary fundamental. Money-saving has many kindred values. No matter how poor or how rich a man may be he cannot afford to get out of the habit of being a money-saver. It has certain disciplinary values that are essential to every man's progress and success.

It has been the general experience of persons who save systematically that opportunities for advancement come more rapidly than they had anticipated. Sometimes the possession of a small amount of ready money at the right time has laid the foundation of a successful business career. Many a man who has strengthened his character and improved his efficiency through thrift has found himself swept forward to great success in his chosen line of work.

Do not deceive yourself on this matter of saving money. The very fact that you save, in spite of many obstacles which may be in your way, may be the very thing needed to round out your character and mental requirements for the accomplishment of great things.

BORROWED HUSBANDS

XXVII.—The Invasion.

"Edith, dear, what is it?" Nancy dropped on her knees beside the chair and slid her arms around the drooping shoulders. "Tell Nancy," she coaxed. Edith made a negative movement of her head and after a moment, she straightened up, reaching a quick hand toward her untruffled confiture. "It is nothing. I was ridiculous for a minute. Forgive me." Nancy got up off her knees. "All right. As you please. I didn't mean to pry. I merely wanted to help if I could."

She turned away with a shrug. Edith put out a derailing hand. "I really would like to talk to you, Nancy," she said in a low voice. Nancy whirled around eagerly. "Do it then! But let's get out of this 'air room,' she clapped her hand over her lips with a horror-stricken glance at Edith. "I beg your pardon, Edie, but anybody's human impulses would freeze in this formal place."

"My sitting room, then," suggested Edith, rising. Nancy shook her head. "The doctor's study," she said during a protest.

"Oh! Edith's soft gasp was sufficient protest. 'Heaven, he can't eat you, can he?'" demanded Nancy irritably. He said he would be out all evening and even if he should come home and find us, he certainly can't be put into a worse humor than he's already in. I've always disapproved of all my naughty deeds and I'm back with Gertrude. You know there's an absolute limit to the barometer of a man's rage; after a certain point no one can get any madder no matter what happens."

Edith led the way without protest. The great mahogany door closed them into the warm silence lit by the pomegranate lamp.

With cool irreverence, Nancy drew the doctor's favorite chair close to the fire and curled up in its capacious depths.

"Ah, this is comfort," she sighed. "I hope the great man stays out all evening."

"He will," said Edith quietly. Nancy twisted her head lazily to look at her.

"Is he out much—in the evenings?" Edith nodded assent.

"But then, he is a very busy doctor. Nancy inhaled, her eyes on the fire. "He makes no calls at night—except in emergency cases."

There was a silence and Edith said with a sudden intensity. "Nancy, I counted on you! He seemed so impressed by you! The fact that he asked you to see him operate was such a good sign. And now—now—"

She looked off, biting her lips. Nancy continued to stare into the fire without comment. "The fact that he asked you to see him operate was such a good sign."

Edith's words were repeated in her thoughts. "Did Edith watch the doctor's fortunes develop? Did she know what THIS word meant: what THAT glance implied?"

"Why," thought Nancy, with sudden amusement, "he must use a system. He must try the same method on all the women who attract him. For, Frederick Barton, have you no more imagination than that?"

Aloud she said. "I'm fearfully sorry, Edie. It WAS rude of me not to go to the hospital when he'd asked me. I dare say he had a right to resent it. But I don't think I've damaged myself irreparably in his opinion."

She hesitated, looking at Edith speculatively. It was difficult to gauge how this new Edith would take straight from the shoulder speeches.

"I say, Edie," she brought out desperately. "You don't ever think that perhaps you humor Dr. Langwell too often?"

Edith turned horrified eyes upon her guest. She was startled completely out of her listlessness.

"Oh no, no! He is a brilliant man. It is his right that lesser wills give way to his."

"Umm..." said Nancy grimly. "That may be a good policy—but not for husbands!"

COW IS MOTHER OF FOUR CALVES IN YEAR

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 9.—The record of a cow in Spartanburg county, South Carolina, of having borne two sets of twin calves in 1920, has been equaled if not beaten by a registered Jersey owned by Marion Richardson, of Davis county, North Carolina, which in 11 months and three days gave birth to two sets of twin calves. The two sets of twin calves, all heifers, were born on February 27, 1920, and on January 20, 1920, respectively. On December 10, 1920, she gave birth to one heifer calf, making her record five calves within 21 months and 12 days.

Our Boys and Girls

When taking a child to have its picture taken, don't impress the child with the feeling that it is a solemn visit and one to be dreaded as much as when taken to the doctor or the dentist. For if the child arrives at the photographers with this condition of mind, the picture will show traces of fright or he will look quite unnatural and this, of course, is just what the parents does not want. Allow him to be natural in the studio, to get acquainted with the man in charge and his surroundings. If you wish him to get a natural picture. When a child poses himself he looks twice as natural and artistic as when the photographer poses him. Naturalness is the keynote of a good photograph in both the old and young.

114 Eggs A Day Now Instead Of 25 A Day
This Means About $126 Extra Income Per Month for Mrs. Ropp.

"I have 200 hens, including late pullets not old enough to lay, and had been getting 25 to 30 eggs a day. Then I tried Don Sung and am now getting 114 eggs a day."—Mrs. Essie B. Ropp, R. R. 2, Littleton, Ind.

This increase of 7 dozen a day in the middle of winter, at 60c a dozen, makes $126 extra income per month. Don Sung for her 200 hens cost about $2.50. It paid her, and we guarantee it will pay you. Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed or water, keeps the hens healthy and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (including tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

END BENNETT IN "THE FALSE ROAD"

Enid Bennett has probably the most novel role of her career to date in her new Thomas H. Ince production, "The False Road," which will be shown at the Alhambra Theater today. She is cast as a girl crook, member of a New York underworld gang. Her sweetheart, Roger Moran, upon being released from Sing Sing, announces, to her surprise, that he is going straight. He lands a job as man-of-all-work for the local banker in a New England town. Thither Miss Bennett, in the role of the heroine, journeys, in company with a confederate, to rob the bank owned by Roger's employer. The complications which ensue when Roger hears of her deed and the final happy solution are said to form a gripping photo-drama.

"SHAVINGS" ATTRACTION HERE NEXT WEEK.

Mitchell Harris, the lucky man who wins the lovely heroine of Henry W. Savage's Cape Cod comedy, "Shavings," which is coming to the Auditorium on Wednesday, Feb. 10th is a nephew of Maggie Mitchell, the delight of playgoers of a generation ago in "Fanchon the Cricket." Mr. Harris is also a son of William Harris, well remembered as leading man for Edwin Booth. Young Harris, who was practically born on the stage, always intended to become an actor, and strangely enough his family approved. Most actors, no matter how successful they may be, strenuously object to having their children follow the stage. Men in other professions are usually glad to have their sons succeed them and so it was with Mitchell Harris.

"I was educated," relates the leading man of "Shavings," with the idea of becoming a good actor. When I was a child my father chose schools for me where I could receive special attention in literature, the arts, history and languages. He compelled me to study good paintings. I completed my education at Bordentown Military Academy. My training there has been invaluable to me in playing the role of a major of aviation in "Shavings". Harris has also been seen as the leading man in "Ben Hur" and "The Roundup."

TOLEDO EXPECTS BIG REVIVAL IN BUILDING

Toledo, Feb. 9.—The employment of thousands of men, now idle, is expected to be made possible here in the spring when building activities on a big scale will be revived in Toledo. The board of education will begin the construction of new buildings, and extensive improvements of old ones. This and the stimulus it will give to other building activities is expected to materially help Toledo's unemployed.

The board of education has announced that an issue of $4,000,000 of bonds has been sold for the purpose of financing the building program. That is part of the $11,000,000, voted by the people.

What the New York Critics said about Henry W. Savage's Cape Cod Comedy

"SHAVINGS"

Taken from Joseph C. Lincoln's novel of the same name.

Evening Sun—Taken in its entirety, one of the best casts that have ever appeared in a Broadway play. "Shavings" is a play that should be seen. It is one of the comedy high lights of the season.

Evening Globe—Quite the best handled and most appealing climax any play has this season afforded.

What theatrical producers have eagerly been seeking.

Evening Mail—"Shavings" is as smoothly flowing as a lazy river that winds through a green valley.

Morning World—Keeps its audience in chuckles and on the verge of tears.

Albany Daily Eagle—Cape Cod Comedy excellently acted, town characters being depicted with a most deft touch.

Evening World—It is like going on a summer vacation to Cape Cod to see "Shavings," the refreshing comedy at the Knickerbocker Theater.

Journal of Commerce—No more admirable characterization has been seen this season.

"Shavings" is the kind of play that without your really knowing why, gets down under the skin and yanks away at the heart-strings until the moisture gathers in your eyes.

Evening Telegram—Another American play has been added to the long list which is making the present theatrical season distinctive in this regard.

Daily News—"Shavings" is a comedy worth placing on your theatrical calendar.

result of pleasure, was really living at last, and in the midst of a wild adventure on the very day he had intended to commit suicide. The story, "A Master Stroke," is told by Vitaphone in pictures, and is shown at the Grand Theater last time today with Earle Williams as the star.

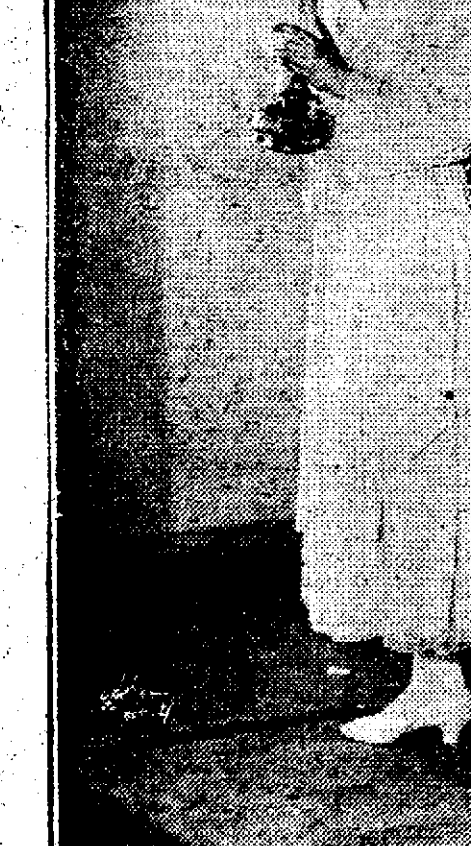

Yale thought his suicide was only deferred when he seized the amazing opportunity offered him by Jack Milling, for's strange proposition, but he was mistaken. After four exciting days he found life was worth living after all.

"HER UNWILLING HUSBAND"

Are you one of those generous, tender-hearted, hospitable souls who issue standing invitations to all your friends? Hospitality, loosely offered, is a dangerous thing. Like a loaded gun—whang!—it goes off unexpectedly, and most anything might happen.

The farcical plot of Blanche Sweet's newest Jesse D. Hampton-Pathe feature, "Her Unwilling Husband," coming to the Grand tomorrow and Friday, hinges on a standing invitation. After a prolonged absence, John Jordan, a student of the law, decides to drop in on his old friend, Gilbert Lenox, for a visit. Instead of his friend, he found in the house only two Chinese servants and a pretty girl. He thought the girl was his friend's wife. When a second man arrived, she introduced the bachelor as her husband. It was a decided shock! A shock to the bachelor because he didn't want to be anyone's husband, and a shock to the other man because he wanted to be her husband, and until a month previous had been her fiancé.

The suspicious, aroused by the predicament resulting from the girl's hasty and mysterious action, make an amusingly entertaining photoplay, and

SPEAKER PRAYS IN OHIO HOUSE

Members Surprised When In Absence of Chaplain Cody Solon Asks Divine Guidance.

Columbus, Feb. 9.—Members of the house of representatives of the state legislature were surprised the other day when in the absence of the chaplain, Speaker Betham of Cadiz offered prayer with all the resonance of voice and depth of feeling of a real preacher. Someone asked Betham if he had ever studied for the ministry. He said he hadn't, but said he supposed he had absorbed a lot in that line from ancestors away back. He explained that his failure to become a Methodist minister was the first break in a chain extending 2000 years back. A direct parental ancestor began preaching in the days of John Wesley. In fact, as the result of Wesley's evangelical work, he said. A brother is keeping up the family reputation. He is pastor of the First M. E. church at Sewickley, Pa.

NEW FORMULA AID TO CAMERA

Canton Chemist Perfects Developer Which Makes Possible Snap Shots Under Conditions Heretofore Thought Impossible.

Canton, Feb. 9.—Julien J. Proskauer, of Canton, inventor of a chemical formula to develop plates and films, claims his invention will revolutionize the taking of snapshots, if others can use it successfully as he has. Under light conditions known to be impossible for fast photography, Proskauer asserts, he has taken pictures with exposures of 1-1000 and 1-2000. He has taken portraits under floor lamps with ordinary 40-watt bulbs, in second and two-second exposures, and they have proven excellent, he said. Proskauer exhibits the photograph of a man holding a lighted match, taken with the aid of the light from the match in that of a single 25-candlepower electric bulb, with an exposure of a 1-10th of a second. For seven months, Proskauer said, he has worked on the formula, and he believes now that he has it developed successfully. Newspaper photographers, movie cameramen and commercial photographers should be aided greatly by the preparation, he said.

OHIO LIBRARIES ARE BROUGHT UP TO MARK

Columbus, Feb. 9.—If prompt responses to the appeal of the Ohio Library Association, Ohio soon will have a 100 per cent observance of pledges made to the Carnegie Foundation, and it is hoped this will lift the "blacklist" placed on the state. Eighty-one per cent of the Carnegie libraries are fulfilling their pledges to the foundation, a survey by the library association indicates. There are 76 Carnegie institutions, out of a total of 151 Ohio libraries. Complete returns from 124 of the 151 libraries have been compiled. One hundred and thirteen of these receive support from tax levies and 11 are maintained entirely from outside sources. These 124 libraries contain 374,914 volumes. The tax supported institutions received $1,256,320 from taxes last year, and $207,469 from other sources. But four counties of the 88 furnish complete library service to both rural and urban territory. These are Hamilton, Paulding, Van Wert and Lucas. There are seven counties without libraries of any kind, and 77 that have library service limited to city and towns. There are, however, 2,500,000 out of 6,000,000 people of Ohio with library service. The Ohio Library Association has prepared two measures designed to afford the entire state library service, which will be submitted to the general assembly.

9300 GIRLS AND BOYS IN OHIO FARM CLUBS

Columbus, Feb. 9.—Approximately 9,300 boys and girls were engaged last season in producing food and clothing in agricultural and home economic clubs, conducted by home agencies in co-operation with the Ohio State University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to a bulletin issued by the former. Of the 4,073 youngsters exhibiting at fairs, products valued at $268,335 were produced. The net profit of their efforts was $147,026. The work was conducted on an organization basis in 70 of the 88 counties in the state last season. Plans are being made for the conduct of the work in as many counties during this year. It's a good plan not to find it necessary to square the circle of your acquaintances.

"HOW WELL YOU LOOK!"

When Your Blood Is Rich and Red People Notice Your Good Health
PEPTO-MANGAN BUILDS HEALTH
Pale Face, Dull Eyes, Drooping Shoulders, Result From Clogged Blood
If your blood is in bad shape it shows up in your looks and feeling. When your blood is rich with red corpuscles your color is better, your lips are red, eyes wide open and bright; your good feeling shows in your actions. Common sense will tell you that if weak, thin blood makes you look lifeless, it lowers your vitality. If your vitality is low you have little power to resist disease germs. Men, women and children with rich, red blood are able to fight off the germs which bring severe illness. When you feel run down and weak, with no appetite and no ambition, take Pepto-Mangan for awhile. It is a great blood building tonic. You should begin to feel better within a few days. Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid and tablet form. Take either kind you prefer, because they have the same medicinal value. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package. Advertisement.

LET REDEX MAKE YOU STRONG

Redex, the new blood tonic, is relieving many thousands every day from stomach, liver and kidney ailments and nervous exhaustion—which may be designated by any of the following symptoms. Failure to properly enjoy food; being tired after any sudden exertion; sleep that brings no rest; loss of weight; impaired vigor and vitality, or a general run-down condition. Miss Gertrude Rohr, residing at 351 Chestnut street, Marion, says: "I had been bothered with nervous headaches quite frequently; could not sleep at night and felt weak and languid all the time. My appetite was poor and food did not appeal to me and the least exertion tired me. I started taking Redex about ten days ago, and it helped me from the start. My headaches have disappeared. I have a good appetite and feel better and stronger in every way. Redex is a splendid medicine and I am glad to recommend it to any one in a run-down, nervous condition. Now is the time to fortify yourself against disease by taking a really good system medicine. Redex can be obtained at Erman's, Evans, City Drug Co., and all first class druggists."

WOMEN MEN ADMIRE
Men admire a pretty face, a good figure, but most of all, the happy, healthy, contented woman, as beauty fades and the figure will change. Women who are troubled with backache, headaches, those dreadful dragging sensations, and nervous irritability, cannot hope to be popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life is impossible. The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions, and dispels effectually all such distressing symptoms.

GIBBS IS SIGNED FOR MAIN BOUT

Columbus, Boxer, Favorite
With Newark Fight Fans
Will Meet in 10-round
Scrap.

Billy Gibbs and Eddie Burke of Columbus, the two boxers who made such a fine showing here a week ago Monday in their four round bout, have been scheduled by Matchmaker Sandy Murray of the Queensberry club for the main go of ten rounds at the boxing exhibition to be held at Hickey Hall next Monday night at 8:15. The boys will weigh in at 130 and the match promises to be of great interest to boxing fans here.

A new departure will be a raised ring, affording the ring-siders a better view of the fighters and also enabling the spectators in the rest of the seats a better view of the fights.

The semifinal bout, Nutter of Newark will be matched with Joe Kreage of Columbus. These boys weigh in at 133 pounds, and their past work here and in Columbus promises a fast four rounds.

Budge Heger, who has heretofore not appeared in the local ring, will meet Lester "Chick" McLaughlin in a four-round preliminary go. In addition "Jim" Johnson, the west Newark boy will be present to meet all comers at 150 and 155 pounds.

All bouts will be under the supervision of Boxing Commissioner Jess Straud, who will act as referee as in the past.

NEWARK RADIO HEARD AT IOWA UNIVERSITY

The latest development in wireless is that of the wireless telephone. It is being tried out and has been found to be very successful.

Raymond Murphy, Newark wireless operator while at work at his instrument at his home in Newark street has picked up wireless telephone conversations and listened to them. On last Wednesday afternoon he listened to a woman's voice singing "Sahara." The concert is given at the McCook field at Newark every Friday evening and also at Columbus.

Each Sunday evening a preacher in Illinois sends a sermon by wireless telephone and Murphy has "listened in." Recently he received cards from the University of Iowa and Princeton, telling him that his signals had been heard in each place.

FIRE CHIEF'S BROTHER BRINGS FIRE TO HIM

There was a fire in the least expected place this morning the Central Fire station. Captain Matthew French, brother of Fire Chief Louis French, dropped in to pay the boys a visit. Incidentally he dropped his pipe into the side pocket of his coat. Coals from the pipe caught the lining of the pocket on fire and the captain was enveloped in a cloud of smoke.

The boys in the station admit that it was not necessary to use the big hose for the extinguishing of the fire but mainly a mere chemical was used.

"BOX CAR" LODGE HERE INITIATES 19 HOMMES

The Tout de Suite Volture of the "40 Hommes and 8 Cheveux" held an initiation at the American Legion Club rooms Monday night taking in 19 members. Amle Volture of Columbus put on the initiation ceremonies in the true and approved style which will long be remembered by the initiates.

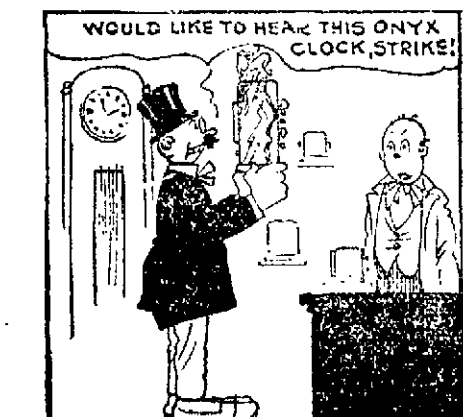

Following the work the "fool" committee lead the crowd to a sumptuous buffet lunch. The boys' four orchestra furnished music for the occasion and according to a Grand Chief de Gare Lee Moore everyone had the time of their lives.

WEEK TREES HINDER FOREST DEPARTMENT

Eliminating weed trees in woodlots is one of the profitable ways of increasing the value of forest land, according to Edmund Seavert, forester at the Ohio Experiment Station.

"The ironwood is one of the worst, bearing heavy crops of seeds which are easily scattered throughout the woods. The young seedlings spring up in large numbers crowding out the more valuable commercial species.

"Weed trees may be made to yield a good profit by clearing out the undesirable trees for firewood during the winter. Mature trees of good species should be harvested and the timber sold as the demand in wood-using industries for timber is heavy.

"Old and defective trees of gum and beech are of little value; they also crowd out the more valuable species, such as white oak, hickory and ash."

In this manner it is possible to make wood lots yield a full crop of trees of highest merchantable value.

BERNARD FELL DIES IN ZANESVILLE HOSPITAL

Bernard Fell, ex-service man, and well known in Newark, died at the Good Samaritan hospital in Zanesville at 2 o'clock this morning.

He has been in the hospital for nearly seven months, and two weeks ago had his leg amputated. He was injured early last summer when a red hot iron bar penetrated his leg, while at work at the Mark Manufacturing company.

Ever effort was made to save the leg, but amputation became necessary in an attempt to save his life.

He was married to Miss Lucille Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Callahan of South Sixth street, June 12, 1920 and the accident occurred just a few weeks later.

He was a graduate of the Zanesville High school, class of 1919, and was prominent in athletic, musical and dramatic circles at the High school during his four years there.

The Elk minstrels were given again last night at the Auditorium theater to a capacity house.

The show went smoothly, and was enthusiastically received.

The gross receipts at the theater for the three performances, were $2,355, while it is expected the program will net about $200. CHANGE CONTEMPLATED IN LEAGUE SCHEDULE

Basket ball is at its height in both the industrial league and in the Y church league. Mid-season form on the part of some of the teams as well as mid-season carelessness is showing in other teams.

Both leagues are going strong with the industrial still bumping along on seven cylinders instead of eight. However it is expected to slip in another team when the final round-up begins.

It has been in the minds of the league management of the industrial league for some time to start the final round in the form of two divisions.

The first four teams in the standing at the close of the second round now playing to be the first division, while the last four teams to be the second division. In this way good contests will be on the schedule for the remainder of the schedule avoiding the very lopsided and uninteresting games such as results when the first and the last teams play each other.

As a league windup the winners of each division play each other for the league while the second placers scrap for second position.

Midland vs. Y. Seniors.

Before the biggest industrial crowd of the season Heisey's moved out the fast American Bottle team by a basket and a foul throw in the most exciting game in the league history. Every player was on his toes from the time the whistle started the game till the gun marked its termination.

American Bottle was in the lead at the end of the first half, 16 to 12. The A. B. C. squad was going strong, shooting from all angles of the floor while the East Newark team had difficulty in getting near the ring. Broome's guarding held Hutton down to but two baskets while Flick Huffman and Emmons did the heavy end of the tallying. Huffman's foul shooting kept the northern players in the lead.

Heisey's trailed up until the last three minutes of play. Effort to keep the Heisey forwards from shooting left Hunter uncovered who crept in to find the hoop six times to not only tie the score but wind up the game in favor of the Diamond H. quintet.
